We are all affected by the tragic acts of September 11 and the events that have followed. As members of the insurance industry, many of us knew people who perished in the World Trade Center bombing. All American institutions have been effected by this tragedy including the surplus lines industry.

Industry-wide loss estimates are broad, ranging from $30 billion to $70 billion. Losses will be spread among insurers and reinsurers in the US, UK and around the world. Insurers and reinsurers widely agree that the September 11 attacks will cause a short-term blow to earnings, but they also believe that rising rates resulting from shrinking, lower limits, and tighter terms of coverage, are expected to help recoup losses for the year ahead.

Industry analysts tell us surplus line insurers are receiving a surge of submissions and that exposure on the claims side are lower for surplus lines carriers than they are for the standard market. However, it is too early to tell what effect this tragedy will have on our workplaces and if this activity will result in greater volume in the surplus lines market. The first priority for all of us should be to return to normalcy and familiar routines in the workplace.

On another front, the Surplus Line Association is busy learning to operate its new database which captures all the information filed by Surplus Line Brokers included on the SL-1 and SL-2 forms in addition to the declaration page. The increased amount of data being stored in the database will greatly reduce the necessity of hard copy retrieval of documents.

Some of the new statistics that will be produced from this database are: premium, coverage and company totals by effective date, listing of filed premium volume, transaction count by effective date, SIC code information, and reports on specific types of tags.

All of these enhancements will allow the SLA’s stamping office to do its job better. One of the statutory responsibilities of the SLA is to maintain the data processing capability necessary to perform the duties assigned by the California Department of Insurance.

Legislative Update

Senate Bill 1136 (Polanco) was signed into law by Governor Gray Davis in early October and becomes law on January 1, 2002. This bill repealed the pending expiration date on California Insurance Code Sections 703.1 and 1773 (advertising and solicitations by non-admitted insurers and surplus line brokers).

These two laws will now become a permanent part of the California insurance code.
The Surplus Line Association of California

Report of the Director of the Stamping Office,

Deanna Zanoni

The total premiums filed for nine months 2001 were $1,399,047,838 up 12.94% over last year. However the item count was 155,053, down 18.22% for the same period last year.

We have a large backlog due to the rewrite of our computer system. We still have employees in training and are still getting the bugs out of the system. The feedback on the system is very positive.

We welcome the following new members to the Association: Sterling West Ins. Services, Inc.; Todd R. Soll Ins. Services, Inc.; A+ Ins. Services, Inc.; Charles Ferguson Adams; Maroevich, O’Shea & Coghlan Ins., Inc.; Orion Surplus Lines Brokers, Inc.; Megasure Internet Ins. Services Inc.; Starlight Crest Ins. Services, Inc.; Evergreen Ins. Services, Inc.; Cooney, Rikard & Curtin Ins. Services of CA, LLC; and M. E. James Surplus Lines Ins. Brokerage Inc.

The Surplus Line Association of California participated in the annual Insurance Industry Charitable Fund (IIFC) Bridge Week Charity event this year by volunteering at the San Francisco Food Bank. The volunteers spent their time cleaning and inspecting canned food and putting together Thanksgiving meals to be distributed to families throughout the San Francisco Area. We would like to thank everyone who volunteered to contribute to this great cause.
